New Wave/Industrial/Electronics-Project of Peter Hein (Singer of German Punklegend FEHLFARBEN) in the early 80s.

Initially released on Düsseldorf's art/punk PURE FREUDE label

They received rave reviews in NME (“celebratory violence”) and SOUNDS in 1983:

“...they convert the punk spirit into a hybrid dance music, if British punk bands would reconsider their attributes and use them in a more positive manner we could have another musical revolution over there, but for now CAMP SOPHISTO are the innovators in that field.”

first and final pressing of 500
